I've left my 40oz Hydroflask in my car all day (12+ hours) during an Arizona summer with outside temps at 110 and inside car temps of 150. I couldn't hold the bottle because it was scorching hot but it was still full of ice and too cold to drink!

★★★★★ holy crap that's hot

I purchased a bunch of hydroflasks as promotional items for my business...I kept one for myself and one morning decided to put some coffee in it before a day of skiing...Got back to the car at the end of the day and burnt the hell out of my mouth when I took a gulp....Amazing product...just watch yourself

This review is from: Hydro Flask Stainless Steel Insulated Drinking Bottle, Narrow Mouth \(Sports\)

I heard about these bottles on a Podcast and I have to say they are incredible!! I put steaming hot water in one and 10 hours later it was STILL steaming. I left ice water in another one for 24 hours and there were still remnants of ice in it an entire day later!! The best thing about these bottles is that they don't 'sweat' and get everything else in your bag wet. Also, if you have a boiling hot drink in it you can barely tell from the outside that you have hot liquid in it. The bottle only feels slightly warm to the touch unlike other bottles that will burn your hands if you have a hot drink in them. Definitely worth the price!!
